

New Website Launched

Lenahan & Dempsey is proud to announce the re-launch of their website at www.LenahanDempsey.com

“The site is a total redesign from top to bottom and makes it easier than ever for potential clients and law firms looking to make referrals to find the information they need,” said Attorney Timothy Lenahan of Lenahan & Dempsey.

“Our new site is our most direct way we have to communicate with our clients,” said Attorney Lenahan. “We used all of the information clients have provided and all of the data at our disposal to launch a new site that is highly user friendly and very easy to read and review.”

The new site has a very clean design. Take the feature “Settlements & Verdicts*” for example. The Settlements & Verdicts page is among the most highly visited at www.LenahanDempsey.com and gives potential clients a look at what Lenahan & Dempsey lawyers have done for other seriously injured clients and their families. The new site has a rotating headline of settlements and verdicts. With a single click, potential new clients can browse a larger sampling of outcomes.

Another popular feature is the new web video player. “We reviewed some of the most frequently asked questions we receive on a regular basis, and provided our potential clients with some of the most important information they need to know,” said Timothy Lenahan. The new web videos touch on topics such as Why Choose Lenahan & Dempsey to represent you following a serious injury, to an explanation on Insurance Bad Faith to how Lenahan & Dempsey protects clients from being bullied by insurance companies and large corporations following a serious injury. The videos are played in high definition, another technological advance offered by the new website.

We invite you to visit www.LenahanDempsey.com and browse our new website.

Lenahan & Dempsey is celebrating its 65th year of professional practice helping the seriously injured and their families. The Firm has won millions and millions of dollars for the injured. The Firm does not charge a fee unless they are successful getting injured clients the money they deserve following a serious personal injury.

Lenahan & Dempsey Attorney Raises Funds For Cystic Fibrosis Research

For Attorney Michael Dempsey, preparing for trial against big insurance companies is a challenge he's well prepared and well trained to take on. He represents the third generation of Dempsey's to practice Personal Injury Law at Lenahan & Dempsey, a firm co-founded by his grandfather. Recently Michael took on a new challenge. He's helping to raise funds for Cystic Fibrosis research, a disease that Michael has a tremendous amount a motivation to combat.

"My youngest son was diagnosed at birth with Cystic Fibrosis (CF)," said Michael Dempsey. "Because of medical research and remarkable advancements in treatments and medications for CF, we are fortunate to learn from his doctors he should expect to lead a full and happy life. But I know others are not so fortunate." Attorney Dempsey recently helped organize and run "Knock Out Cystic Fibrosis", a fundraiser held recently at Dunmore High School. The fundraiser was a charity basketball tournament that also incorporated basket raffles, food and even a 50/50 raffle.

"My cousin Brian Loughney and I are very close," said Michael Dempsey. "He's been involved with raising money for research on Cystic Fibrosis for almost 5 years now. Once my son was diagnosed, we combined our efforts and raised just over $18,000 with our fundraiser. Doctors are extremely close to finding a cure for CF and we expect to be back next year - bigger and better - in order to aid this worthy cause, in any way that we can."
